Continuation of Substance of Interview including description of the general nature of what was agreed to if an agreement was reached, or any other comments: After faxing in the proposed amendments to the claims, the said amendments were discussed. Ms Fussey explained that adding "dry powder" and the class of phospholipids, will distinguish the claims over prior art of record. Ms Fussey also explained how the dosage of the active agent is an important part of the invention and that it would not be obvious to one of ordinary skill to select such a dose. Ms. Fussey added that high dosages of active agents are not taught in the art. Dr. Woodcock explained the invention and its difference with the prior art. He added that the instant invention is concerned with creating multiple layers of phospholipids in the lung which function as a barrier to allergens and because of this feature it is possible to administer a dosage of at least 25 mg of the active agent. He explained that Radhakrishnan and Mautone references teach liposomes which encapsulate the drug to facilitate its delivery rather than its barrier functionality. Applicant and Examiner agreed that further amendments may distinguish the instant claims from prior art.
